Dear Colleague

The International Society of Nephrology (ISN) invites all health professionals involved in the care of people with kidney disease to become members of ISN.

Membership of ISN means you can benefit from its varied education and training programmes, including access to our journals, Kidney International and Nature Reviews Nephrology; and reduced registration fees to our varied international meetings including World Congress of Nephrology, Nexus Symposia, and Forefronts meetings. You can find out more about these membership benefits at www.theisn.org.

Membership of ISN also gives you the opportunity to discover more of ISN's unique philanthropic and humanitarian programs in the developing world. ISN invests 25 % of its overall budget in teaching, training and capacity building to improve the care of people with kidney disease in the developing world; we would be delighted if you want to become involved.

From 2012, we welcome renal health professionals who are not MDs – including dietitians, nurses, pharmacists, social workers, and technicians - to become Associate Members of ISN at the reduced rate of only $50 USD a year. To find out more about the benefits of ISN membership, and to join ISN, go to www.theisn.org/categories-and-fees.

At the next World Congress of Nephrology, 31 May – 3 June 2013 in Hong Kong, we will be holding a welcome reception for Associate Members to meet ISN leaders and learn more about ISN's work.

Please share this message with your friends and colleagues.

John Feehally
President, ISN
